- Absolute Return: 14.8%
POLICY FRAMEWORK

- The endowment’s long-term investment horizon allows for an equity-oriented investment strategy, which should provide higher returns over time.
- The long-term investment horizon also permits the use of less liquid alternative assets providing for equity diversification beyond the stock market and greater expected returns.
- The investment program relies on carefully selected external investment managers to implement investment strategies.
- The University’s tax-exempt status which gives equal treatment to income and capital appreciation, enables the University to invest for total returns.
- The endowment distribution policy insulates the University’s budget from market volatility by basing the distribution rate on a trailing average market and provides for intergenerational equity by setting distributions at a level that approximates the real rate of return of an equity-oriented portfolio.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The University Endowment Fund is the unitized investment pool for the University of Michigan’s approximately 7,800 separately administered endowment and quasi-endowment funds.

Objective. The University manages the fund to meet donors’ expectations that their endowment gifts will provide support to the University in perpetuity. The objective is to maintain and enhance the value of endowment gifts and to secure the future purchasing power of the quarterly distributions.

Size. Michigan’s endowment was valued at $8.4 billion at June 30, 2013. In a June 30, 2012, survey, it was seventh in size among U.S. higher education endowments and ranked second among public universities.

Investments. Michigan’s endowment is invested in a diversified portfolio of mostly equity and equity-like investments. Equities are investments in commonly available market traded stocks. Equity-like investments are investments in alternative assets, both liquid and illiquid. Alternative assets have risk characteristics that are similar to and often a bit greater than those of market traded equities and have more attractive expected returns.

Alternative assets include investments in absolute return strategies such as long/short equity investments, distressed debt investments, and various value and arbitrage strategies, as well as investments in venture capital, private equity, real estate and natural resources where the managers take direct ownership positions in businesses and properties with the intent of actively enhancing the value through higher growth and/or increased profitability.

Distributions. A portion of the endowment is distributed for operating purposes in any given year. The distribution rate is based on a trailing 28-quarter moving average market value, which insulates the University’s operations from temporary market swings and thereby facilitates prudent planning.

In July 2010, the Board lowered the annual distribution rate to 4.5 percent from 5.0 percent to more effectively protect the purchasing power of the University’s endowments and the distributions they provide. This adjustment will be accomplished by leaving quarterly distributions unchanged while the corpus grows. The distribution rate is expected to reach 4.5% during the first half of FY 2014. Distributions are limited to an annual rate of 5.3 percent of current market value and are made quarterly.

Additions and Redemptions. Additions to the University Endowment Fund can be made quarterly, priced on the last business day of the quarter. Redemptions of quasi-endowment shares can be made quarterly, with one month’s prior notice to Financial Operations. True endowment shares cannot be redeemed.

Establishment of New Endowment and Quasi-Endowment Funds. Legal review by the Development Office and approval of the Controller are required. Quasi-endowment funds entail a five year investment commitment.
